

Contributor Information

Zoë Alford is a counsellor/supervisor in private practice in Gisborne. She is a doctoral candidate at the University of Waikato.

Jody Allen is a counsellor in private practice working within the Franklin district, South Auckland.

Janet Baird is the Senior Counsellor/Team Leader at Grief Support Services in Tauranga.

Kathryn Barclay works as a school counsellor at Mangere College in South Auckland.

Arthur Bruce, a continuing student of narrative, provides counselling and supervision in the rural and cultural context of Opotiki.

Alison Burke is Head of Guidance and Counselling at Tarawera High School, having previously been guidance counsellor at a small-town Bay of Plenty school and a multi-cultural Auckland school. Her master's research investigated cyberbullying.

Diana Bush is the manager of a counselling agency specialising in work with children and their families in Franklin, South Auckland.

Joan Campbell works at Unitec, Auckland, in the Department of Social Practice and also in a Māori agency in Otara, South Auckland.

Alastair Crocket is Principal Academic Staff Member, Centre for Health and Social Practice, The Waikato Institute of Technology, Hamilton. Email: alastair.crocket@wintec.ac.nz

Kathie Crocket is Director of Counsellor Education at the University of Waikato. She is a co-editor of Ethics in practice: A guide for counsellors and a member of the National Ethics Committee of NZAC. Email: kcrocket@waikato.ac.nz

Sandie Finnigan is Service Manager at the CareNZ Wairarapa Addictions Treatment Service.

Paul Flanagan is a senior lecturer in counsellor education at the University of Waikato and a member of the NZAC National Supervision Committee.

Ian Frayling has been a mechanical engineer, then a teacher, and is now a school counsellor, currently at Whangarei Boys' High School.

Maureen Frayling is a lecturer and team leader at Northland Polytech (North Tec). She has a background in counselling, nursing, and midwifery.

Judith Graham is Head of Guidance at Whakatane High School. She has also worked as a counsellor in Child and Adolescent Mental Health and in Adult Mental Health, and in various school and research settings.

Colin Hughes has 35 years' experience as a school guidance counsellor, most of these at Trident High School as Head of Guidance, leading a team of counsellors and deans. Colin was Coordinator for the Waikato–Bay of Plenty Regional Ethics Team and a member of the NZAC National Ethics Committee. Email: hughesc@trident.school.nz

Maria Kecskemeti is a senior lecturer in the Department of Human Development and Counselling, University of Waikato, where she teaches in initial teacher education. Her background is in teaching, Resource Teacher of Learning and Behaviour (RTLB), counselling, and counsellor education. Her research interests include post-structural theory and classroom practice, teacher and student identity, and relationship practices in schools. Email: hun@waikato.ac.nz

Elmarie Kotzé is an educational psychologist and a senior lecturer in counsellor education in the Faculty of Education at the University of Waikato. She has led a significant number of community research projects, including in schools.

Mira Peter, a Senior Research Fellow in the Wilf Malcolm Institute of Educational Research (WMIER) at Waikato University, is an experienced human-behaviour researcher with special skills in scientific experimental design, survey development, statistics and data analysis. For the past three years Mira has been collaborating with staff within the Faculty of Education and across faculties to develop projects and strategies for examining teaching, assessment and learning, collecting education data, statistical data analysis, and liaising with the Ministry of Education and other stakeholders.

Nigel Pizzini is a parent, husband, school counsellor, supervisor, and therapist in private practice in Auckland.

Titihuia Rewita, Whakatohea, is a private practitioner in Opotiki. She is a member of the National Supervision Committee, NZAC. Email: titihuia@slingshot.co.nz

Naarah Simpson is a counsellor at a community agency in Papamoa East and a contract tutor for an undergraduate paper, Perspectives on Counselling, University of Waikato.

Bernard Smith is a counsellor and supervisor in Nelson. He also works for the Ministry of Social Development as a Family Violence Response Coordinator.

Tricia Soundy currently works for the Kyabra Community Association in South Brisbane, Queensland, and offers supervision privately, after many years in New Zealand as a social worker, counsellor, and supervisor.

Brent Swann is Ngāti Porou, an Anglican priest, and dad to five children. His current counselling practice, at the Glen Innes Family Centre in Auckland, is mostly with families and men.

Huia Swann is a whānau therapist at Glen Innes Family Centre in East Auckland. Her current thesis research is in the area of narrative practice with whānau Māori.